

LOCAL MATTERS.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Oct. 10, 1878.—For the Middle States: rising barometer, cooler northwest and warmer southwest winds, partly cloudy and clear weather.

SUN ENGINE HOUSE.—The taking of the testimony in the unusual detainer case of the City Council vs. the Sun Fire Company is continued, in the Corporation Court, after the Gazette's report closed yesterday. It was understood that the case turned upon the point of whether or not the City Council ordered the suit to be brought, and the Judge instructed the jury, that if they believed that the Council did not so order, then they must find for the defendant. After hearing the evidence, the jury found for the defendant without leaving the box. The case grew out of a resolution passed several months since by the City Council, ordering the Mayor to turn over the building occupied by the Sun Fire Company to the Commissioners of the Sickling Fund. The Sun company claim a right to occupy the house by virtue of an agreement made with the Sickling Fund Commissioners, at the time when their former house was torn down, in building the New Market House. The verdict of yesterday decides in favor of the company on the ground above named, but does not preclude the city from bringing an action in ejectment. Charles E. Stuart, esq., Corporation Attorney, represented the city, and Mr. Geo. A. Mushbach, the Sun company. A motion for a new trial was entertained.

COLUMBIA STEAM FIRE ENGINE CO.—The regular monthly meeting of this Company was held last night, with R. W. Falls in the chair, and L. Campbell, Secretary pro tem.

Two applications for active membership were presented and referred.

The resignation of the worthy and efficient Recording Secretary, Mr. John W. Grantland, was read, and by a unanimous vote, was not accepted.

The committee on the late parade made their report and were discharged, a vote of thanks being tendered them for the manner in which they had performed their duties.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Company are hereby tendered to the ladies who so kindly furnished decorations for our apparatus on the occasion of the late parade, and to all others who assisted this company in making such a creditable display.

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolution be furnished the Alexandria Gazette for publication.

CORPORATION COURT.—Judge E. M. Lowe presiding.—CONTINUATION OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.—City Council vs. Sun Fire Co., an unusual detainer; jury and verdict for defendant.

German Banking Co., vs. Schleman; debt, jury and case adjourned until to day.

To-Day.—Skidmore vs. Skidmore et al.; in chancery; decree confirming report of commissioner and for partition.

Thornton et ux vs. Cole et al; in chancery; exceptions of complainant overruled and those of defendant sustained. Order for sale of real estate.

Allen vs. Berry; in chancery; answer of R. S. Allen to petition of T. E. Berry's committee and exceptions of City Council to Allen's answer filed.

On motion of John Thornton, a distributee, the estate of Thomas Cole was committed to the Sargant.

German Banking Co., vs. Schleman; debt; jury out.

THE CANAL BREAK.—The Cumberland News of yesterday says:—

"The break in the canal at Joel Charles' mill, near the Four Locks, noted by us yesterday, even worse than at first reported. A well-informed canal man who arrived from the scene yesterday reports the break to be about six feet long and twenty feet wide, and eleven or twelve feet below the bottom of the canal. It is in short, simply an extension of the break which occurred August 5. There has been no heavy rains in the vicinity recently, and the cause of the break is supposed to have been the giving away of the clay and stone used in repairing the old break. The place where the break occurred is opposite to Clearspring and above Dam No. 5, which backs a large quantity of water into the river, which is very close to the canal at that point. At the time our informant last preparations were making to commence repairs, it is thought the repairs cannot be finished before ten days and perhaps two weeks, as the material used is brought from a point nearly a mile distant, as on the previous occasion."

Information received here to-day by the agent of the American Coal Company states that the break will require about ten days to repair.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Wm. H. Bacon and family left yesterday for California, where he will be associated with his relative, Capt. Albott, formerly of this city.

The Cumberland News says:—"Col. Wm. Kitzner, the third speaker last night, is not, as it is thought, the 'boy' with him through, but was often applauded. The Colonel was formerly a resident of this city, and at one time represented the county in the Legislature."

Major John W. Daniel, of Richmond, formerly of this city, has been elected secretary of the Mutual Assurance Society of Virginia. Major Daniel has had a very extensive experience in insurance matters, and will doubtless prove a most valuable and efficient officer. By his courteous and polite manner and strict attention to business while in this city he won a host of friends, who will be pleased to learn of his new appointment.

The Warrenton South says:—"H. C. Shyemaker is in town giving instruction how to do best counterfeiting money."

Mr. Samuel Hannon, who has been residing in Texas for a year or so past, returned home this morning. He is looking well.

THE LATE FAIR.—The Winchester Times says of our late fair:—

"We congratulate our Alexandria friends upon the success of their fair. With two such men as J. B. Smoot and J. T. Beckham should, enthusiastically supported by the large men of the city and the powerful aid of the Gazette, there was no possibility of failure. There is no reason why Alexandria should not have as good fairs as any in the State. It has not only the adjacent Piedmont region—the richest in the State—to draw from, but the whole Northern Neck, down to the mouth of the Potomac (which needs only the proper culture to become the garden spot of the East), is her natural tributary."

ALASKA.—A letter received from Col. M. D. Ball, formerly of this city, but now Collector of Customs in Alaska, by a friend here, says:—"This is a good country and must soon be a rich one. There is gold in abundance, but the government gives us no protection, and the mines are not all found yet, because men are afraid of the Indians. But we hope to have something to secure us before long. Livestock is cheap and fine. We get a fine deer for $1.50 or $2.00 and all the fish we can eat is a week for 10 cents. Crabs and clams are very cheap, but nobody here can cook them like the Alaska people."

WYMAN.—Wyman, the old Alexandria favorite, commenced a new engagement at Sarepta Hall, last night, before a fair audience. He introduced many new and amusing experiments, and the audience were much pleased throughout. The lady's gold watch, the principal prize of the evening was won by Mr. Charles Gray, who r sides on the corner of Princess and Royal streets, and a number of other useful prizes were given out. There will be another performance to-night.

THE COMING ELECTION.—It will be remembered by voters that the election for members of Congress takes place on November 5th. The registration books will be opened on the 25th inst., remaining open only one day, instead of three, as heretofore. Persons who have just come of age, or who have changed their residence should make a note of this, and see that they are properly registered.

ALEXANDRIA LIGHT INFANTRY.—The Alexandria Light Infantry, at a meeting held last night, received an invitation to attend the College fair, on Thursday next, and accepted the same. They expect to carry about sixty men, and will present a fine appearance. The company was drilled last night on the drill ground of St. John's Academy.

TOURNAMENT.—Several parties from this city went to Arlington this evening to attend the tournament and ball there. Edmund Burke, esq., delivered the charge to the knights. Mr. George A. Mushbach, who was to have delivered the address, was detained here by the hearing of a case in the Corporation Court, and sent his excuses to the managers.

THE INDIANS.

A dispatch to the Herald from Kansas City says: The half has not been told of the atrocities committed by the Cheyennes on their route from their reservation across Kansas, leaving as they did behind them trails of rapine and blood. I have been over the whole field north of the Kansas Pacific road from Buffalo Station to the Headquarters of Beaver Creek and the facts there obtained are simply frightful.

The Indians crossed the Kansas Pacific road on Tuesday last, and proceeding north sacked the postoffice on the north fork of the Solomon, and John Balfess, the postmaster, escaped. They then went to a northerly direction and killed every person and sacked everything in their way. Near Beaver Creek they attacked a ranch owned by Thomas Lynch, who fled in a ducut with his wife and two children. The Indians came whooping up, but Lynch killed two with a revolver and the rest fled.

On Sappa Creek occurred an outrage, the result of which makes the blood run cold. The howling demons came suddenly upon the house of H. Laeg, and after killing the father and two sons, outraged the mother and two daughters, and then carried the mother and two daughters only eleven and thirteen years of age, and are now in a state of semi madness, after their escape from the burning building after the red devils fled.

Just north of Long's place Kate Abernathy, a school mistress, was also ravished and murdered. Seventeen dead bodies were gathered up by the settlers and buried at Burden, all of whom were known, and none unknown and unrecognized ones.

Until after the Indians passed Beaver Creek they killed men, women, children and stock with guns, but after leaving that stream they used axes to kill the people, in nearly every instance crushing the face and skull and mutilating the bodies in the most barbarous manner. This was because they were getting short of ammunition and had to save every ounce of powder and ball.

Among those known to have been killed were Mr. Humphrey, from Illinois; George Smith, H. Long and two sons, H. Hudson, T. Weston and two sons, George Evans, Henry Abernathy, Frank Lull, Frederick Watters, ranchman, from New York; R. Kelly, Theodore Young and eight children, found strangled along the prairie near Long's place, and one child. The situation is simply frightful, but the Indians have now left the State, and people will return to their homesteads.

During all this time the troops were only a few hours in the rear, and stockmen and settlers are very much at the mercy of the way they were handled. On one occasion about two hundred soldiers came up with the Indians, but neglected to engage them, giving as excuse that the soldiers were tired and needed rest. General J. C. Davis had his headquarters at Wichita, and he did not send his troops to help the settlers, but the department commander, General Pope, the department commander, seemed to have little knowledge of the state of affairs, as he telegraphed on the 10th the men were killed south of Buffalo, that there was not an Indian in Kansas.

A dispatch from Houston, Texas, says: Information from General Maxey and from other sources confirm the slaughter on the 5th instant of three girls and a boy named Dowdy in Kerr county, on the waters of the Red River.

The young girls were first outraged and then their bodies were removed and laid out on their backs, and on the 10th the Indians returned and butchered the three innocents in a most horrible manner, leaving their bloody corpses on the prairie near their dwelling. The little boy's scalp was severed. Mrs. Dowdy missed her children at their usual haunts, and for several days she searched for them, but in vain. She found the mutilated bodies of the girls and boy in the ravine. The largest girl, aged eighteen years, was still alive, but she had been so horribly outraged that she shortly died in great agony, without speaking. When found her body was full of arrows, none of which could be pulled out. A company of citizens went in pursuit of the Indians, who had a large number of stolen horses. General Maxey, by telegraph, notified General Ord and McKenzia that troops have been sent in pursuit to intercept the Indians before reaching the Rio Grande.

A Glasgow Ghost Story.

There has been great excitement in Glasgow about a house supposed to be haunted. The place was a school, so on a recent night detectives were deputed to proceed to the house, and endeavor to unravel the mystery. They met the janitor by appointment, and were admitted into the school, where they placed themselves in a position from which they could not be seen, with the intention of waiting for what might come. They had not maintained their watch very long when the cause of the whole delusion disclosed itself. It appears that the houses on the opposite side of Siding street are occupied by a working class population, who seldom think of drawing down the window blinds after the gas is lighted. On the wall of the school opposite the windows there are a number of highly glazed maps, upon which there is cast a reflection of the gas light in the house opposite.

The detectives found that if any movement was made in one of the houses on the other side of the street a reflection was made against the highly glazed maps. During the past few nights the windows of the school had been left open, and the wind disturbed the maps, which gave the appearance from the outside as if some object was moving through the school. The idea of calling in detectives is very prosaic. It is a treatment similar to that given to a ghost by a very matter of fact man, who, at the old manor house, at dead of night, saw the curtains slowly open and a ghost approach him, who commenced, "I am the ghost of Squire So and so, who was foully murdered on—". Here the occupant of the bed stopped the ghost by the remark, "My good fellow, it is no business of mine; you had better go to the police station." The feelings of the sanbed ghost may be readily imagined.

The Missouri Republicans. The republicans of Missouri have nominated for judge of the supreme court, Alex. F. Donay, for superintendent of public instruction, Roderick Baldwin; for registrar of lands, Wm. T. Norvel; for railroad commissioner, John B. Tracy, and adopted resolutions asserting that the debt of the nation is a sacred obligation, favoring hard money and demanding that currency be convertible into coin at the will of the holder; opposing the payment of "federal war claims;" arranging the democratic party as the disturber of public tranquility and the chief supporter of the wild inflation schemes, and opposing the repeal of the resumption act. A resolution nominating Grant for President in 1880 was received, with tremendous applause, but it was thought inexpedient to adopt it.

Local Brevities. The directors of the Aqueduct Bridge Company yesterday ordered that a contract be made with the Washington, Cincinnati and St. Louis Narrow Gauge Railroad Company for the use of the bridge piers and abutments, on which the said company propose to construct a railroad bridge.

I have found it as an application in inflammation of the lungs (pneumonia) or in pleurisy, one of the very best. It penetrates the tissues or parts rapidly. In cases of irregularity of the heart's action depending on nervous irritation, it acts promptly. After being made acquainted with the combination of your Liniment, and seeing its action in so large a number of cases, I do not hesitate to recommend it both to the public and the profession.

SOME REMARKABLE INCIDENTS IN AN INDIANA DIVORCE TRIAL.—In the case of Muschman v. Muschman, a suit for divorce which arose in the Case Circuit Court of Indiana, and is reported in 44 Ind. Rep., 106, some very remarkable incidents occurred during the trial of the cause to the lower court, as will
